How Ten Firemen Met Fate

Some Made It and Some Didn't

By CHARLES HILLINGER LOS ANGELES (LAT) -The boss of a tough outfit of firefighters cried Wednesday as he recalled how 10 members of his crew were trapped and killed in a southern California brush fire.

Fifteen other members of the crack El Cariso 'Hot Shot" crew were badly burned

Tuesday afternoonson a brushcovered slope near suburban Sylmar. The fire was under control Wednesday after scorching 2,100 acres. .

"I don't mind the young, naive Tory types who just seem to have the attitude that if they don't like a guy they want to lett him, but who is roing to run things when it's all over?"

Brian Smith is strongly at odds with the Esquimal-Saanich delegates on this issue.

* * * "I do not accept the view that Dalton Camp is actively campaigning for Fulton, I have heard he is campaigning for Mr. Fulton, for Premier Stanfield, for Premier Robarts, and also that he is busy campaigning for Mr.

"I feel he is unselfishly campaigning for the Conservative Party."

Mr. Smith bristled, "I think it is shocking the way Mr. Camp has been criticized by some in this party, like (Gordon) Churchill and (Erik) Nielsen. I think it has been nasty and unwarranted. I think Camp deserves

Eric Charman was visibly disgusted with Mr. Camp's record as national president.

"One result of his poor job has been that the local assohand-pick his delegates by phone. I know of one group

Mrs. Vera Ashford, the second Esquimalt - Saanich delegate, had this to say:

"I will have no hesitation in voting against Mr. Camp's resolution on the leadership. I got a copy of the resolutions Tuesday and I am disgusted with some of them. "I just don't like the way Dalton Camp has been going about this thing."

If there was variation in opmatter, there was none in assessing E. Davie Fulton's chances in a leadership race. Not one of the four thought of gaining the leadership of "It was no coincidence that Mr. Camp recognized that Fulton was a complete and uter failure in B.C. It was to save the party any further embarassment in this way that he came out here from Ottawa and suggested Mr. Fulton be recalled.

Brian Smith, while favoring a leadership convention, did not think much of Mr. Fulton's

TN REPORTING ON THE military affairs brief prepared by Rear Admiral Jeffry V. Brock, one of the officers compulsorily "retired" by the minister of defence, Mr. Paul Hellyer, because he dared to dis-agree with the policy of unification, the Colonist correspondent, Mr. Fraser Kelly, makes the point that because of the use of what he calls the editorial "we" this is an indication that the admiral has been 'directing" the Conservative attacks against minis-

Whether or not this is the case is really of no consequence. There is no reason why members of the Opposition should not seek expert opinion from Admiral Brock or any other military man, if it helps to clarify the argument over the efficacy of unification as opposed to its dangerous consequences.

But Mr. Kelly assumes that when, in his brief, Admiral Brock says, "It's time we got off the fence about nuclear arms either now or in the foreseeable future," he was speaking for the Conservative group.

There is another way to interpret the admiral's reference to "we." It is more probable that he was speaking of "we" as a nation, as a people, who must make up their minds on this issue. This applies throughout the brief.

On the whole the admiral's reasoned opinions are impressive, but they may not move the average reader.

Nis discussion of defence policy is at staff college level.

Some of his suggestions will ring a responsive chord, however. The report on the brief makes mention of his contention that Canada should re-establish better working relationships with the Commonwealth and Great Britain. It would be interesting to see his full development of the theme, long a matter of concern to many military leaders in this country.

Admiral Brock's views may not arouse enthusiasm from the man-in-the-street because he may not understand them, but on this same issue of national defence, Mr. Gordon Churchill, the former Conservative minister of defence, contributed to the debate in the Commons in a way which needs no interpretation.

He said Mr. Hellyer had been charged as irresponsible, that he had misled the House and had suppressed evidence which was to have been given to the Commons defence committee, and that he had made no satisfactory reply. "He has not cleared his name," Mr. Churchill said. The minister may not take these allegations seriously. He may feel he can afford to disregard public opinion, and the mounting weight of criticism and suspicion. Perhaps he believes these feelings stem from a purely political bias. This is not so. People are genuinely concerned with the state of Canada's deforces, and like Admiral Brock and Mr. Churchill defences, and like Admiral Brock and Mr. Churchill and the rest, they want to prevent their further deterioration. The best way to reassure the Canadian people at this stage is to allow the parliamentary defence committee the widest latitude in the selection, examination and cross-examination of whatever witnesses it feels should be heard. On the basis of such evidence Mr. regain the confidence of the military critics and the people.

Using Home Talent

IN THE WAKE of the publicity of Miss Jayne Mansfield, Trade Minister Ralph Loffmark wishes a top ld be had for the B.C. trade fair to be held in Vancouver next May.

Well, let him go to work and get one-from within

It is an old adage that a prophet is never without honor except in his own country; in the theatrical and entertainment world Canadians of this ilk must reflect how true this is.

The penchant promoters in this country have for importing top-ranking American stars of the entertainment scene-so-called or actual-is astonishing. The yearly CNE at Toronto and the mainland PNE occasions are examples of this, and presumably Expo 67 will reflect the same mesmeric belief that foreign performers are automatically better than home-breds.

In proven fact there are entertainers in Canada, and some right here in Victoria, who are superior in talent to some of the much ballyhooed "stars" of the Hollywood menage.

It is high time that those who arrange programs for notable Canadian events paid more attention to the quality they might find easily enough on their own doorstep. There is ample talent on the home front to provide attractive entertainment.

In any case for a B.C. trade fair which will emphasize and exhibit the nature of B.C. products it is appropriate that the associated entertainment should feature a prominent Canadian performer, if not one or more than one from the province itself. Mr. Loffmark does not have to look very far,

Undesirable Secrecy

E NOUGH CAME out of the closed sessions of the federal-provincial conference on tax-sharing merely to convince most Canadians of two things; that the provinces did not get as much as they wanted and that taxes are going up.

Only after the conference ended were projections prepared by the continuing federal-provincial com-mittee on taxes released, although these apparently were the main framework in which the provinces argued for a bigger transfer of resources from Ottawa. The projections indicated that at present growth and tax rates provincial and municipal governments might have a combined deficit of more than two billion dollars by 1971-72; the federal government could be expected to have a surplus of $325,000,000 to $725,-

The provincial premiers had pressed for publication of the figures, which strengthened their case. But the federal position apparently was that they were too apt to be subject to misinterpretation. With their release came a statement from Finance Minister Sharp that they were not forecasts of what actually would

Had the projections been released while the conference was still in progress, the public might still not have heard much of the argument about their validity.

But the withholding of them goes to emphasize how undesirable it is that the proceedings of such meetings are secret, even in the last ways the secrety less than totally effective.

When the governments meet to divide up the taxpayers' money, it would be nicer to know - and directly - their reasoning.

Washington Keeps It Dark to Lessen Terror

Plague Rampant in Viet Nam

The plague has invaded South Viet Nam

Between Jan. 2 and Aug. 5 this year 2,002 cases of the plague were diagnosed there. Of these, 116 patients died The increase has been relentless. In 1961, only one province in the combat zone was affected. Today, 22 of the 29 provinces north of Saigon have been hit by the plague.

Father Do Van Quy, head of the Saigon branch of the Pasteur Institute, where scientists research the disease which killed 25,000,000 people in the 14th century, reports the spread as "very, very serious." The problem will not be solved, he asay, until the war has ended.

War and pestilence traditionally march hand-in-hand, but their relationship in South Viet Nam, long a breeding ground for the plague, is not one Washington is too keen to

At least one American correspondent, trying to wrest a joint report of the U.S. army and the Pasteur Institute from the archives of Washington's Library of Medicine and the Walter Reed hospital, was brushed off by officials. It was not for public release, he was told.

Washington, it seems, is minimizing a potentially emotional situation: Over the years, the "black death" has lost little of its power to inspire terror. The chief of the U.S. aid missions (preventive medicine section) in Viet Nam maintains that the odds that the plague will be carried to America are pretty small, despite the growing traffic in ships and planes

The plague, carried by the parasites of the spivatic (field) rat, lies dormant in the high plateau regions of the earth. Some rats become immune to the plague. These in turn pass on immunity to their young, only for this safeguard to disappear after two or three generations. Thus, 10 years after an epidemic among rats, the scourge reappears.

Explosion stage is then reached when man, living in unsanitary conditions (such as in a war zone), either comes into direct contact with the wild rodent or the urban rat picks up the fleas and transmits the plague inside cities. Despite Washington's complacence, it was in this last method that scientists in Geneva last week found another cause for anxiety. The danger will grow acute, they said, as spreading urbanization brings the city rat closer to wild rodents.

The proximity of heavily settled regions to the open countryside already points the way. Cases are reported annually not only from Asia and Africa but also in the United States. Both New Mexico and Arizona sent victims to hospitals last year-native Indians and hunters returning from the

They have been bitten by plague-carrying fleas.

The result is one of three forms of plague: Bubonic, with its swelling of the glands; pneumonic and its attack on the lungs and septicemic, a condition in which the bacilli invade the bloodstream with such rapidity that the patient can die

Modern hygiene and speedy diagnosis, where these conditions apply (not in Viet Nam), now ensure that the plague swiftly isolated. Even so, as recently as 1947, in a situation of civil disturbance, 57,000 people died of the plague

And if, as Father Do Van Guy warns, the problem cannot be eradicated in South Viet Nam until hostilities are over, the Saigon government and the U.S. forces will find themselves faced with a second army of even subtler means of advance.

Impaired Driver Convicted

A motorist who drove for 100 yards on the wrong side of Hill-side Oct. 10 was convicted in central magistrate's court Wednesday of impaired driving. George Haines, 3011 Scott, was remanded to Nov. 11 for sen-

Prosecutor John McIntyre said Haines had previous convictions for impaired driving in October, 1965, and June 8 of this

NOT ACKNOWLEDGED

Defence counsel Jack Gatehouse said the convictions were not acknowledged.

Constable Gerry Cox said Haines tore his licence into pieces when it was handed to him on his way to the cell block. Haines said he wouldn't need it, Constable Cox said. Haines denied driving on the wrong side of the road and said all he had to drink that night was a glass of home-made wine.

Ray Mahaffey, 1176 Dunsterville, was fined $100 for careless driving.

Drinking Fines Higher

The total of impaired driving fines imposed in central magis-trate's court jumped by more than $1,000 between August end September, members of the Victoria police commission were held. Therefore told Tuesday.

In August, 14 drivers paid $4,200 and in September, 20 drivers paid $5,500.

Chief J. F. Gregory and the city detective branch had been busy and solved a number of cases an evidenced by the fact retains. stolen property recovery jumped from $2,624 in August fo $6,794 in September.

the Easy Car...from General Motors

Go easy. The trim-size, sleeklooking, new Acadian goes easy on your pocketbook-when you buy it and as you run it.

We believe a lot of people would like a smart-looking. less expensive automobile that is smaller and yet doesn't show any cut quality corners. So we offer the 1967 Acadian. Our new Acadian looks nice. Not "Christmastree nice" but tasteful and styled to size. Perhaps you would understand better what this means if you were to sit Acadian next to any other car in its class and compare beauty marks. Acadian is 'way ahead.

Our '67 Acadian is well-built. Really, Acadian is sort of over-built. We figure you may be the kind of person who wants his next new car to look after him-instead of the other way around. So Acadian is ruggedly put together to get you where you want to go without pampering. It goes easy. Would you call Acadian good value? You will. Not only for its all-round excellence but for its extraordinary comfort (for instance, the model shown above has standard bucket seats).

You can take it easy in your Acadian. There are lots of reasons why-including a host of new standard safety features. Dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, lane change signal in direction signal control, four way hazard warning flasher, passenger-guard door locks on all doors—and many more safety features are found in every 1967 Acadian.

No single model can fit everybody's ideas of a perfect car. So we oner six Acadians: two narchops, three sedans and a station wagon. When it comes to power teams, there are two sixes, two V8s and three different transmissions. Maybe no car is perfect but our Acadian sure tries.

Every Acadian sits on a 110-inch wheelbase. So Acadian is neither huge nor tiny. It's just rightespecially when you're trying to park or get through heavy downtown traffic. Acadian's trim-size makes for an easy handling, easy driving car. At the same time, there's plenty of room for the whole family and lots of trunk space for their luggage.

Another thing, Low upkeep. We said earlier that Acadian goes easy. It does. It goes easy on you and only partly because Acadian goes easy on gas.

So there you have it. Our '67 Acadian is sleek-looking. trim-sized, well-built—a good buy in the very low price field. Wouldn't you agree that it's the Easy Car? If Acadian is easy to look at and easy to drive, wait'll you see how easy it is to own! Some time soon, drop in and put Acadian to the test. We just know our new Acadian will win out over any other car in its class. Easy.

1967 ACADIAN'S COMPREHENSIVE WARRANTY...

1 24 months/24,000 miles warranty on the entire car. 2 5 year/50,000 miles warranty on the power train. 3 5 year / 50,000 miles warranty on steering, front and rear suspensions and wheels.

THIS NEW ENAMEL IS AS EASY TO USE AS LATEX PAI

Rolls on your walls like latex.

How come? Because it has a latex base, in fact it's the first successful latex enamel. It rolls on walls and ceilings smoothly and evenly; dries quickly; has no unpleasant "painty" odour; and washes off brushes and rollers in warm soapy water. But it dries to a hard, tough, low-lustre enamel finish. It can safely be washed with household cleansers. And it's just as stain-resistant as ordinary enamels! You can use it with complete confidence in kitchens,

Garden Notes

First Pick the Pot

For several days we have been talking about tulip and hyacinth bulbs suitable for growing indoors to bloom during the winter months. Today I think I had better follow on with a few hotes on how to pot and grow these bulbs.

Our first problem is what kind of container to use. Standard clay flowerpots are quite satisfactory as far as healthy growth is concerned, but they do have one disadvantage in that, with most common sizes, only one single build can be planted in each pot, which makes for a rather meagre display. If you are buying new pots, then, get the squatty ones known as bulb pans, wider and not as tall as regular clay pots and big enough to take several buibs. In addition to the usual earthenware kinds, there are new poin of lightweight rigid plastic materials with almost perfect proportions to take three hyacinth or four tailp bulbs.

While clay or plastic pots with drainage holes in the bottom provide the most heelthful growing conditions, they have one serious disadvantage—they are ugly things! Fortunately, bulbs can be grown satisfactorily in pretty ornamental bowls; I have used my wife's avantage Dalton and Wedgewood. wife's expensive Dalton and Wedgewood howls without harm to either bulbs or bowls, and I have even used a discarded pyrex casserole to hold three hyacinth bulb culture, it is important they be big enough to take from three to five bulbs. They should be fairly deep, certainly not less than 3½ inches deep, and should have fairly steep sides, for shallow-sloping sides don't give enough depth under the outer circle of bulbs.

Such containers differ in one impor-tant aspect from flower pots: They have no drainage holes. Because of this, the culture is a little different. Watering must be done with considerably more care, for there is nowhere for excess water to go. And while sandy loam soil or purchased potting soil works fine in flower pots, soil tends to go bad — stagnant and sour — in an undrained bowl when over-watered.

For this reason, when planting bulbs in china bowls, I think it is better to use a substitute for soil — peat moss, vermiculite, or a mixture of the two. Certain kinds of bulbs also can be grown in pebbles and water, but this will be the subject of another column.

With flower pots, first cover the hole in the bottom with a bit of broken shower pot, hollow side down, then start by putting a couple of inches of soil in the pot. Make this firm with the fingers, then sit one of your bulbs on it to check for depth. The depth of soil under the bulb should be such that the nose of the bulb is just peeping over the

When you get the depth right, ge ahead and place your bulbs in position, packing them in as close together as you please but not quite touching one another. Remember, all the bulbs in any one pot should be of the same variety, so they will all come into bloom at the same time. Spoon more soil around and between the bulbs, firming it with the fingers, and finish off with the soil level half an inch below the rim of the pot to allow for watering.
The bulb's noses should be sticking through the soil surface.

* * * Water the pots, then transfer them to a cold dark place. Success with bulbs—tulips, hyacinths, daffs,—depends more than anything else on having a cool, dark place for about three months while the bulbs are getting themselves rooted. A cool cellar is good, or a fruit cupboard where the temperature remains consistently below 50 degrees.

Some watering will be nanoscary during this cool storage, and it is best to inspect your potted bulbs once a week to feel the soil with the tips of the fingers. Give water only when the soil feels dry to the touch. Avoid sogginess, though, and if there are soucces under these countries there are soucces under the pots, empty these of any drainage

Introducing the rooted and aprouted bulbs into warmth and sunlight is a bit tricky, and I will be writing about this

Rem Moody spent four years working on Joey, Joey, and now it is folding after barely opening. That's show business... Stanley Baker had a meeting with Joe Levine when he was in New York last week, but I doubt whether they will be making further films in Africa. Their Sands of Kalahari was not a hit... Joe has also shelved Stiletto for the time being. Which means British actor James Booth will not be going to Hollywood as expected.

As in the U.S., The Bible was murdered by the critics here, but also as in the U.S., the John Hussen production for Dino de Laurentillo, is doing great business . . On the other hand, Lionel Bart's Twang musical, financed by United Artists, lost all of its $300,000 cost. The idea was to take it to Broadway, then make a film. This doesn't seem likely. Frank Singtra, who actively dislikes the press, decided he would give one photograph of himself and wife Mia to the press when he was here recently making a film. He okayed the photograph, it went all over the world. Then Frankie saw it in a New York paper and he hit the ceiling. Seems he's been having a feud with the particular sheet and has been insisting that he did not give permission for the photograph in the first, second, and third place. Frankie's life would be easier if he gave a blanket pardon to all the people be dislikes so intensely.

Harry Seasombe, who played Mr. Pickwick in the stage musical—a hit here, a flop in the States—has signed for the role of Mr. Bumble, the horrible headmaster of the orphanage in the movie version of Oliver.

You don't hear much about the films of Irina Demich these days but her career is barrelling along very nicely. The former model, discovered for films by Darryl Zanack. has just completed a German movie in Greece and will start a new movie somewhere in Europe this spring. In between, she lives in a magnificent home in Rome with her rich husband and their daughter.

When the ex-Mrs. Henry Fonda, Counters Afders, is able to leave the prison clinic in Rome where she has been incarcerated since she was charged with smuggling mari-juans from Lordon to Italy, she will resume her dates with British millionaire Lord Asheombe. Her case comes into court the middle of November. If she is convicted, the dates with His Lordship will have to wait. The maximum sentence is eight years in jail and fixes up to $750,000.

It could be over with Jean Shrimpton and Terence Stamp. He's working with Julie Christie in Far from the Madding Crowd in Dorset and she's in Greece, recuperating from her first film role in Privilege. I hope to catch up with Jean who as a model made the dolly dress style so popular. There's a new model now called Twiggy, aged 17, and hoping to be the new Jean Shrimpton. I doubt it.

TV TALK

I think the CBC and Festival won a small victory over

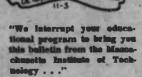

I think the CBC and Festival won a small victory over their. American rivals last week.

A week ago Wednesday, Festival presented The Spirit of the Deed, delightful ghost story adapted from Henry James. And last night ABC Stage 67 gave its audience a musical based on Onear Wilde's The Canterville Ghost.

The parallels were interesting. Both stories were in a light, spooky vein. Wilde and James were contemporaries in late 19th century England. Both TV productions were an hour in length and did not pretend to follow faithfully the work of the original writer. writer.
But where Festival

But where Fastival
came up with a charming (and apparently inexpensive) success, Stage 67 laid a large costly egg.
The Spirit of the Deed revolved around two spinster cousins who inherited a haunted manor and found themselves vieing for the affections vicing for the affections of the handsome ghost.

The plot was irresistible: who was going to get the ghost? (In the end, neither did. But that doesn't

The Canterville Ghost, on the other hand, was up dated and given music. The American ambassador and his family reuted a hausted English manor, and the soppy teen-age daughter finally helped the ghost to gave up hausting.

haunting.

It lacked form and plot. The humor was neither American nor British: it was an example of Americans presenting what they think is British humor. The modernizing was unnecessary and maddening. (The daughter were an ugly mini-skirt and the boys had long hair).

In short, Oncar would not have approved.

So score a point for the CBC. At least it knows how to crib from the best of the 19th century.

Kennedy

Autopsy Films Given Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The family of President Kennedy has turned over to the national archives pictures taken in connection with the autopsy performed after his assassimation — pictures the two doctors who were involved say add nothing to evidence already on record.

The 65 pictures and X-rays, which were not examined by the Warren Commission during its investigation, were presented to the archives under conditions which virtually preclude public viewing of them for many

BACK TESTIMONY

A justice department spokesman said Tuesday night the department had saked for the 14 X-rays, 25 black-and-white negatives and 26 color transparencies, to complete the government's collection of assassination material for the historical record.

The two navy pathologists who performed the autopay the night after Kennedy was shot said Tuesday the X-rays and pictures merely back up the mony they gave the commission. And one said the photographs were intended for use in the trial of Lee Harvey Oswald. "These photos are noting more than supportive evidence for information we presented to

"These photos are nothing more than supportive evidence for information we presented to the Warren commission," said Cmdr. Ghornton Boswell, who assisted Cmdr. James Humes in the autopsy. "All they would do would be to document what we discussed ... I am sure the photographs would corroborate our testimony. ...

CONDITIONS

The justice department spokesman said the pictures, suthenticated by Humes and Boswell, are the only ones of the autopsy known to exist.

Under conditions laid down by the Kennedy family, there will be no non-official access to the autopsy pictures without the consent of the family for the first five years. This does not apply to official government investigating groups, which may see the pictures at any time.

After the first five years,

After the first five years, access is limited to recognized experts in pathology or related services, again with the connect of the Kennedy family.

Committee Backs Educational Television

COURTENAY - A committee of 'eachers, schools trustees and department of education officials studying educational television has brought down its report with four conclusions and recommendations.

The committee has suggested: • The committee continue to watch and study developments in this field;

That closed-circuit educatelevision be operated locally That a provincial system educational television be • That pilot projects be set

Among those are a video-tape recorder and television monitors, to be purchased for recording CBC broadcasts. Suggested budget for this is $1,500.

Also to be investigated are film-loop projectors and the use of film loops. Suggested budget in this department is $1,000. The committee began ar exploratory study of ETV under the chairmanship of trustee Dr.

The committee was reprecontactive of the school district Schellinck, principal, Courtenay senior secondary school; J., staff member, CSSS; Mrs. J. McMornies, staff member of Arden elementary; L. Laing Plans Visit DUNCAN - Cowichan Indian Band has taken another step forward in its fight to improve housing conditions on the reserve. Although, this time it's their minister who helped them take the step.

Indian Affairs Minister Arthur Laing is expected to visit the reserve, it was learned from Ottawa Wednesday through a government spokesman. VERRAL AGREEMENT

The announcement comes following a verbal agreement between the band and government that such a meeting should take place. However, no date has been fixed. And Abraham Joe, chairman of the band's grievance committee, insists the Dec. protest march on Vancouver
